E Wife of Captain Hains Tells Remarkable Story of Coercion to Force Confession of Her Guilt—Blames Brother of Husband

By Boston American Lensed Wire.
NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—The remarkable deposition of Mrs. Claudia Libby Hains, wife of Captain Peter Conover Hains, brother called at the house and a lawyer by the name of Bennett. I had been in bed all day long and had had nothing to eat since the night of the 29th.

The deposition of Mrs. Hains follows:
"I was sitting on the verandah of my house at Fort Hamilton, May 29, 1908, when the door of the house was opened from the outside and my husband appeared. He pointed a pistol into the room and ordered everybody out. They all left and then he and his brother, T. Jenkins Hains, came in.
"My husband told me that I would have to get out of the house the next day and that if my mother would not take me, I

"When Mr. Austin left the house that evening, Mary said she never intended to consider him as dead or friend as she always had."

"When we got up the following morning, May 20, my husband said he was going to see his father, General Austin, and that he would return about the next day."

"I had retired and he awoke me by ringing the bell and he asked me to bring out of his room a pocket and he threatened to kill me."

"He told me that he had seen his father, General Austin, and that he was ill and that he was away again. I had been ill for some time and I was very weak. I was considerably distressed by my husband's behavior and I was very much distressed by the charges that he made and said."

"General Hanks, my husband's father, told me that he had seen his father, General Austin, and that he was ill and that he was away again. I had been ill for some time and I was very weak. I was considerably distressed by my husband's behavior and I was very much distressed by the charges that he made and said."

"Later in the afternoon my husband's

MRS. CURTIS IN COURT

By Boston American Leased Wire.
NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Mrs. M. Curtis was early in court today at the trial of Charles W. Morse, the Ice King, and her husband, charged with the misappropriation of bank funds. Mrs. Morse, her father, and the two women were deeply interested.

Mrs. Katherine A. Wilson was also present.

"I'd rather be in the Maine woods than in court today," Mrs. Morse declared to a court attendant. "It is too hot in town today."

Frank F. Pringle, clerk of the loan department, was the first witness. After identifying several loan checks, the witness was questioned about the bills of the names to Louis E. Whiting, the $12 a week salary.

"About a year and a half ago Mr. Morse told me that he had been in the Maine woods for the last three years," said Pringle. "He said something about a salary of $12 a week."

Admit Mrs. Morse.

Assistant District Attorney W. B. Curtis, in a letter written by Morse from Chicago.

"I object to this letter on the ground that it is not binding on Curtis, my client," said Morse.

Handwriting on the envelope was identified as being in Morse's hand and the letter was read.

WITNESSES AS BIGAMISTS
HEARD FOR JURY

Special to the Boston American.
LYNN, Oct. 19.—Pleading guilty to bigamy, Walter C. Stone, a leather worker, twenty-five years old, was held in the dock for the Grand Jury by Judge Loomis in the Lynn Police Court today.

Stone's two wives were in court and they laughed heartily at him as he tried to induce them to be his witnesses.

Miss R. Bina, who was married to Stone on August 8, 1904, is a woman of thirty-eight years. The second wife was Florence H. Chisholm and was united with the defendant on August 8, 1905, at a ceremony in the city of Lynn.

Stone is a very attractive man, and they are very friendly with each other and they left court in a very good mood.

MAN LOST WAS ABOUT TOWED

Friends of Patrick Greenan, thirty-eight years old, married, employed by Mrs. P. H. of No. 44 Lake avenue, Melrose, have asked the police of that city and Boston to find the man if possible. According to the reports sent to the police of the two cities, Greenan came to Boston from Melrose Saturday afternoon.

He was last seen in the company of his wife, who is now in the city of Boston, at a hotel where he was staying. He was last seen in the company of his wife, who is now in the city of Boston, at a hotel where he was staying.

Illinois State Senator, Here on Republic, Tells of Gift of Pennies.

MRS. CHAPLIN A PASSENGER

State Senator A. C. Clark of Chicago, who arrived here today on the White Star liner Republic after a trip abroad, said that the severity of England's political situation.

"The subject of the Republic," he declared, "is one of the most difficult subjects I have encountered. It is a subject of great importance to the people of this country."

"I started out to walk around a block and see how many pennies I could give away in charity. I took 100 pennies with me. They did not go far. Why, when I saw a child or a poor man, I would give him a penny and he would take it."

How to Show
Your Opinion
of Draper

A Chance for Republican Workingmen

The Republican machine—Lodge and Crane—nominated Eben S. Draper for Governor, in spite of the repeated protests of workingmen, and in spite of the fact that three times in succession Draper has proved himself the weakest man on the Republican ticket. Anti-machine Republicans don't want Draper, but they have to take him. Republican workingmen don't want Draper, but they have to take him. The Republican managers all say the Republican ticket is sure to win in Massachusetts this year. The Democratic managers all admit that the Democratic candidate for Governor has no possible chance of election. The Republican party evidently does not need YOUR votes, Republicans workingmen. This year, then, you have an opportunity to SHOW THE PARTY WHAT YOU THINK OF IT for nominating such a man as Draper. Cut Draper! Vote for Osgood! If what the party bosses say is true, you can do this without endangering your party ticket.

Japan Greet
the Fleet With Cordiality

And There is a Reason for It

It is pleasant to read that the Japanese fleet has received our fleet cordially. The cordiality is of the same sort evinced by a small fox terrier when a large bulldog drops in to visit him, but it is cordiality, nevertheless, and as long as it shall endure there will be no danger of a war with the little yellow nation over the Pacific. But we must not forget that this expression of loving good will to everything American, the barking of friendly cannon and the making of flowery addresses of welcome was all brought about by the size and strength of the American ships. This seems to be abundant evidence of the wisdom of sending them to the Pacific. A few months before they sailed Japan was full of blustering war talk, full of bitterness against this country, full of threats of what was going to happen if her little children of thirty-five and forty were deterred from our public schools. But with the approach of the fleet toward the Orient the outspoken hostility dwindled, and now that the fleet is in Japanese waters, lo! there are only acclamations of delight and prodigal assurances of distinguished consideration. Now, it is important to keep the Japanese in this attitude toward us, for they have a strong army and a strong navy, and they have, or they fancy they have, a great deal to gain by going to war with the United States. And the only way to continue their cordiality is to keep a fleet in the Pacific big enough to make any other feeling extremely bad policy. As long as our ships are sailing the seas of the Orient the Japanese will continue kindly and polite. But as soon as they are withdrawn the old undercurrent of hatred will show forth in the newspapers of Japan and in the subterranean diplomacy of Japanese statesmen. Neither the Republican nor the Democratic party has seen the wisdom of maintaining a navy in both oceans big enough to retain the friendship of Japan, as well as that of the other nations of the world. The Democratic platform proposes to infuriate the Japanese by exclusion legislation without providing against the inevitable consequences of that fury. The Republican platform's utterance on the navy is worthily:

The Independence party alone has the intelligence and the patriotism to declare for a navy big enough to protect us against aggression and to maintain our national dignity wherever it is threatened. On the navy the Independence party declares: "The Independence party declares for peace and against aggression, and will promote the movement for the settlement of international disputes by arbitration. "We believe, however, that a small navy is poor economy, and that a strong navy is the best protection in time of war and the best preventive of war. We, therefore, favor the speedy building of a navy sufficiently strong to protect at the same time both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States."

The Independence party's naval plank will appeal to every American who loves his country and who desires to keep her from war by making war upon her too dangerous for any hostile nation to undertake.

"Appeal to the Masses"

[FROM PRACTICAL POLITICS]

The Independence party in nominating William N. Osgood of Lowell for Governor made a very good selection, for he is a well-informed man and has considerable ability. He is a man of studious temperament, one who is inclined to study things before he says or does anything.

The industrial and social situation, and the economic side of it, has long appealed to him, so that his campaign will be one of some thought along the lines which appeal to the masses.

Our Women Selfish? Never!

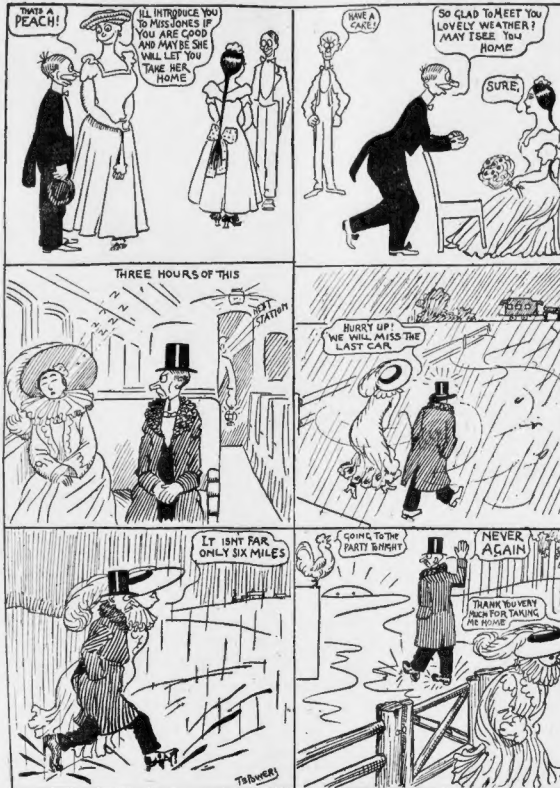

By Winifred Black

There is another English critic, rumormongering the earth, telling the assembled multitude what is going on in the world, and what is going to happen. Well, what he says is true—of some American women. The trouble with the distinguished foreigner is that he is like a man who is so busy looking at the butterflies in the garden that he has no time to observe that the bees at the end of the hive are as busy as ever. We have a good many butterflies among our women, but oh, how many bees there are with us! The American society woman is not the real American woman; she doesn't seem to be the real anything, given an imitation diamond, or a make-believe perfume, or a diamond-encrusted hat. The real American woman is the plain woman or French woman or whatever the passing dot may be.

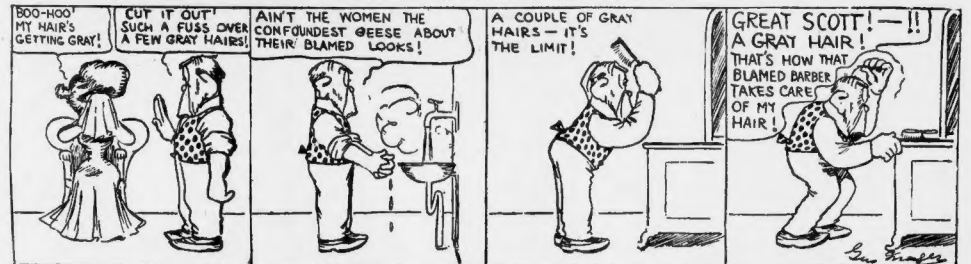

The real American woman is a different from her as a splendid fruit tree in full and gorgeous blossom is different from a gaudy masked ball bouquet for a few minutes in the dust by the public road. The American woman selfish?—come, come, Mr. Foreigner, give me your hand. I'll lead you into a thousand homes where you will find the most unselfish creature in the world—and they are American women, too. American women vain, idle, unhappy? Dear me, if you could only see our real mothers for just a minute. So busy that they haven't time to be unhappy, so simple that they blush if you tell them to be honest in becoming, so loving that no little child can get anywhere from them in vain. Well, what a great noise the selfish trouble do make in the world after all—when the great drive is about their business activity!
